JUSTICE HUGHES AND FAIRBANKS

Are Nominees Of Republican Convention.

THIRD BALLOT FIXES MATTER

But 37 1-2 Votes Left Roosevelt, Weeks, Lodge, du Pont, La Follette.

SOON RUSHED PLANS THROUGH

Chicago, June 10.—Charles Evans Hughes, former Governor of New York, and until to-day Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, was nominated to-day for the Presidency by the Republican national convention.

Charles Warren Fairbanks, of Indiana, elected Vice President with Theodore Roosevelt in 1904, again was chosen for second place on the Republican ticket.

Both nominations, made by overwhelming majorities on the first ballot of the day—the third of the convention—were by acclamation made unanimous.

Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, presented by Col. Roosevelt as a compromise candidate, received seven votes. Col. Roosevelt himself received eighteen and one-half votes scattered over twelve States.

The nominating ballot showed this count:

Hughes	949 1/2
Roosevelt	18 1/2
Lodge	7
Du Pont	5
Weeks	3
La Follette	3
Absent	1

Total 987

Despite the fact that Frank H. Hitchcock, leader of the Hughes supporters, let it be known while the Presidential balloting was in progress that the Hughes men wanted Burton for second place, Ohio withdrew Burton's name, leaving the field to Mr. Fairbanks and former Senator Burkett, of Nebraska.

The ballot for Vice President showed this count:

Fairbanks	863
Burkett	108
Borah	8
Burton	1
Johnson	1
Absent, scattering and not voting	6

Total 987

Mr. Hughes will be notified officially of his nomination at a date to be fixed later by a committee headed by Senator Warren G. Harding, of Ohio, chairman of the convention. Mr. Fairbanks will be notified by a committee headed by Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho.

At 2:01 p. m. the convention adjourned. There were expressions of harmony from all the leaders and among the delegates. The delegations which on the final ballot had cast votes for others than Mr. Hughes made statements declaring their loyalty to the nominees.

The nomination of Mr. Hughes was made possible so soon by an overnight break-up of all the allied favorite sons' combination, which, early this morning released its delegates, practically all of whom were known to favor Mr. Hughes when freed from their instructions.

When the convention began business shortly before noon the withdrawal of the favorite sons was announced from the platform one after another, and the votes began flopping into the Hughes column in solid blocks so rapidly that the nomination plainly was assured before the roll-call had gone five States. When it got to Colorado the drift was so apparent that a proposal to make it unanimous or nominate him by acclamation was made, but Chairman Harding ruled that the balloting should take its regular course.

In rapid succession as the voting went on, Du Pont was withdrawn by Delaware and his solid block was cast for Hughes; Illinois withdrew Sherman, Ohio withdrew Burton, Iowa withdrew Cummins, New York withdrew Root, Massachusetts withdrew Weeks. Practically all these new votes were cast for Hughes, only a few remaining in compliment to the favorite sons who brought them.

Then one after the other, Senator Weeks and Senator Lodge took the platform, pledged loyalty to the nominee and asked all their supporters to do likewise. Similar announcements were made from all the favorite son delegations. The final analysis of the nominating ballot showed that Hughes had drawn his votes from every State in the union and every territory; that Roosevelt's had been scattered over twelve States; that Du Pont's five had come from South Carolina; Lodge's seven from North Carolina and the final three for Senator Weeks had come from Massachusetts and Missouri.

Although the convention, when it nominated Mr. Hughes, had no word that he would accept and no statement of his position, one came along soon afterward, but not until the convention had adjourned. The former Justice had kept to his determination to utter no word in his own behalf, to make no new announcement of his position on issues, and to say nothing which might be construed as becoming a candidate while he wore the robe of a Justice in the world's greatest court.

Letter Of Resignation and President's Reply.

Washington, June 10.—Justice Hughes's letter of resignation, sent to the White House by messenger, contained one brief sentence. It said:

"June 10, 1916.

"To the President:
"I hereby resign the office of Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

"I am, sir, respectfully yours,
CHARLES E. HUGHES."

The President sent this reply to Justice Hughes's letter:

"Dear Mr. Justice Hughes:

"I am in receipt of your letter of resignation, and feel constrained to yield to your desire. I therefore accept your resignation as Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, to take effect at once.

"Sincerely yours,
"WOODROW WILSON."

The letter was sent to Justice Hughes by messenger.

ROOSEVELT SAYS HE IS "OUT OF POLITICS" NOW

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 11.—Theodore Roosevelt reiterated to-night that he is "out of politics."

"I want to tell you newspaper men," he said, "that its of no use for you to come up here to see me. I will have nothing to say. I will answer no questions, so please don't ask me to. I am out of politics."

If the former President has any plans for the immediate future other than to continue his literary work he has not made them public. His secretary, John W. McGrath, is expected to arrive here to-morrow from Chicago with a detailed report of the happenings at both the Republican and Progressive conventions.

Col. Roosevelt attended church services in the village this morning with Mrs. Roosevelt, but remained in seclusion at Sagamore Hill the rest of the day. The telegraph wires last night and to-day brought a flood of messages to Col. Roosevelt. It was announced that most of them approved his action in declining to become a candidate upon the Progressive ticket.

While Col. Roosevelt would not discuss the question to-day his intimates considered it altogether unlikely that he would reconsider his conditional refusal to head a third ticket. He has not yet made it clear whether or not he will support the candidacy of Mr. Hughes.

The State's Finances.

The following has been given out as the condition of the State Treasury at the close of business May 31st:

The balance on hand	$1,086,914.21
distributed as follows:
Sinking fund	$43,689.31
School fund	183,617.60
State Univ. fund	1,090.38
Gen. expenditures fund	$53,516.92
Outstanding State warrants	3,913,244.19
Outstanding April 30	2,494,067.38

Uneasy rests the aching tooth that wears a crown.

ST. LOUIS AFFAIR NOW LOOMING UP

Forerunners To Big Convention Arrive.

WILL BE HARMONIOUS MEETING

All Instructions Are For Wilson For Renomination To the Presidency.

WILSON'S IDEAS TO BE ADOPTED

St. Louis, June 11.—Forerunners of the 1,092 delegates who are to nominate President Wilson and Vice President Marshall at the Democratic National Convention this week moved into St. Louis with the slogan of "Peace, Prosperity and Preparedness." The convention holds its first session at noon Wednesday.

A contest over six seats from the District of Columbia in the convention will be taken up at a meeting of the Democratic National Committee to-morrow. The committee will also decide two contested seats on the National Committee, one from Texas and one from the District of Columbia. Thomas Love is contesting the seat of William Poindexter, of Texas, and four Democratic clubs in Washington, D. C., are contesting the selection of John F. Costello as committeeman.

Every one of the delegates to the convention either is instructed for or committed to the renomination of President Wilson, and the vast majority of them, according to many national committeemen, are ready to rename Vice President Marshall. A few votes are expected to be cast for some favorite sons for the Vice Presidential place, but the party leaders assembling here predict the other names may be withdrawn and that Marshall's renomination, like that of President Wilson, will be made by acclamation.

"We are here to ratify the desire of the Democratic party," said National Chairman McCombs to-night. "There might be a fight if we could hold the convention in Europe. It's a certainty there will be no fight here. The program is all arranged and there should be no hitch."

Senator William J. Stone, of Missouri, arrived to-night, bringing what was said to be a draft of the party platform, with its main planks sketched in detail by President Wilson. Senator Stone is slated to be chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, and it is understood that he and the members of the committee will put President Wilson's ideas on certain planks in written form and adopt other planks bearing on preparedness and foreign policy just as they have been written by the President.

Senator Stone has had several conferences with President Wilson and as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has intimate knowledge of President Wilson's views on party policy.

TESTS OF POTATO FLOUR MADE FOR GOVERNMENT

Owensboro, Ky., June 12.—The Anglo-American Mill Company, of this city, has received two tons of dried potatoes from the United States Department of Agriculture to be ground into flour. The department is making a series of tests to determine the relative food value of potato flour as compared with wheat and other flours. Experts say that the real food value of potato flour is as high if not higher than that of other ground products. If the Department of Agriculture is satisfied with the results obtained it is said that potato flour will be adopted in the United States army.

JOHN R. McLEAN, OWNER TWO BIG PAPERS, DEAD

Washington, June 9.—John R. McLean, owner of the Washington Post and the Cincinnati Enquirer, died at his home here at 2:50 o'clock this afternoon, after a long illness.

Mr. McLean, who was in his sixty-eighth year, had been suffering from a complication of diseases for several months. He was a native of Cincinnati, where he lived until a few years ago, when he came to Washington. As a young man he acquired his father's interest in the Enquirer, and in 1881 he became sole owner of the paper. Ten years ago he bought the Washington Post.

For years Mr. McLean was active in Ohio politics. He attended national conventions as a delegate-at-large, ran for United States Senator in 1885, was the Democratic nominee for Governor in 1899, and later served as Democratic National Committeeman from Ohio.

A son, Edward B. McLean, active in the management of the Post, and a sister, wife of Admiral Dewey, survive him.

NEW YORK MOOSEERS IN DOUBT ABOUT FUTURE

New York, June 11.—The New York delegates to the Progressive convention at Chicago returned to-night on a special train. Apparently there was anything but unanimity of feeling among them as to what course their party should pursue. It seems to be the consensus of opinion, however, that if Col. Roosevelt makes positive his tentative refusal to be a candidate for the Presidency some other man should be selected by the National Executive Committee of the party to fill the vacancy.

John A. O'Connell, chairman of the County Committee, declared the Progressive party "will not desert the principles" for which it has stood.

"This much is certain," he said. "The National Executive Committee of our party hereafter will not permit any man not a member of the committee to invade its deliberations, and that applies also to ex-officio members. I don't expect Col. Roosevelt to finally decline the nomination of the party, but if he should I certainly do not expect the Committee on Vacancies to select Justice Hughes to take his place."

VILLA BANDITS MEET FATE AT END OF ROPE

Belling, N. M., June 9.—Francisco Alvarez and Juan Sanchez, two Villa followers captured during the raid on Columbus, N. M., March 9, were hanged at 6:30 o'clock this morning. The men were hanged singly.

Two companies of New Mexico State militia guarded the interior and approaches to the county jail during the hanging. There was no attempt at disorder.

The men, convicted on charges of murder, met their fate stoically, smoking cigarettes until they ascended the scaffold. They were accompanied by their spiritual adviser, Father Garnet, of the Catholic church here.

Five other Villa followers condemned to death were granted a reprieve by Gov. W. C. McDonald for further investigation of their cases. Alvarez was first to face the executioner.

DEMONSTRATIONS OF HOSTILITY CONTINUING

Washington, June 12.—Anti-American demonstrations in Northern Mexico continue, according to official advices received here, particularly in the States of Chihuahua, San Luis Potosi and Nuevo Leon, and although the manifestations thus far have been confined mostly to speech making, consular agents have reported that the temper of the people appears such that any eventuality might be possible.

Americans are leaving for the border in steadily increasing numbers. Under previous instructions, State Department agents in Mexico are giving every possible aid. In addition, border agents have been instructed to urge those seeking to return to Mexico to stay on the American side of the border for the present.

Officials here showed considerable uneasiness over the situation.

Admits Killing—Surrenders.

Tompkinsville, Ky., June 8.—Oscar Proffitt is dead here from gunshot wounds received on the road near Ebenezer Station. Jere T. Adams surrendered to the officials in Tompkinsville and was placed in jail to await his examining trial. He said the trouble with Proffitt started over a scriptural argument. Proffitt is survived by his wife and six children.

Groom 66, Bride 16.

Elizabethtown, Ky., June 10.—Cap Noe, 66 years old, and Miss Ida May Pettinger, 16, were married here Thursday.

T. R. IS UNABLE TO ACCEPT NOW

Leaves Decision To Progressive Committee.

ANNOUNCEMENT IS WITHHELD

Until After Statements Of Justice Hughes On Vital Questions Of Day.

THE CONVENTION IS STUNNED

Roosevelt Refuses Nomination, Auditorium, Chicago, June 10.—Col. Roosevelt's answer to the Progressive convention follows:

"To the Progressive Convention:

"I am very grateful for the honor you confer upon me by nominating me as President. I cannot accept it at this time. I do not know the attitude of the candidate of the Republican party toward the vital questions of the day. Therefore if you desire an immediate decision I must decline the nomination. But if you prefer it, I suggest that my conditional refusal to run be placed in the hands of the Progressive National Committee. If Hughes' statements when he makes them shall satisfy the committee that it is for the interest of the country that he be elected, they can act accordingly and treat my refusal as definitely accepted. If they are not satisfied they can so notify the Progressive party, and at the same time they can confer with me and then determine on whatever action we may severally deem appropriate to meet the needs of the country.

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

On motion of James R. Gardfield, Col. Roosevelt's letter was formally approved by the convention.

Convention Stunned.

Auditorium Hall, Chicago, June 10.—Theodore Roosevelt was nominated to-day by the Progressive National convention after four days of uproar and tumult in which the delegates never wavered in allegiance or cast a passing glance upon another man.

Three minutes before the convention adjourned until another time, Chairman Raymond Robins read to them a brief message from Oyster Bay, in which Mr. Roosevelt declined to accept the nomination at this time. Few of the thousands in the vast auditorium, some of whom had seen the Colonel named in an even wilder burst of enthusiasm four years ago, realize when Robins rapped his gavel at 4:58 and declared the convention adjourned sine die, that in a few hours or a few weeks they might be a party without the one leader to whom they had come to Chicago to give the pledge of loyalty and faith.

The significance of Mr. Roosevelt's message with its announcement that if the Progressive National Committee found the subsequent statements of Charles Evans Hughes, the Republican standard bearer, to its liking, his non-acceptance of the Progressive nomination should stand as his last word, was lost in that tired throng, worn out by its own enthusiasm, by long delays over peace parleys with the Republicans and by the discussion of a platform, on which it must go into the field, if at all, against both the forces of Democracy and Republicanism.

None of the feeling that some of them later betrayed when they had had opportunity to digest the Colonel's statement had time to flare out when the gavel fell. They trooped out into Chicago's streets for home while the band played faintly and the flags that had floated so proudly through all the stormy session were folded and the banners put away.

"HOLY ROLLER" REFUSED TO SUMMON PHYSICIAN

Paducah, Ky., June 10.—Accused of refusing his wife medical attention but trusting in the religion of the "Holy Rollers," to save her, Luther M. Ivey, 25 years old, of this county, was held to answer to the grand jury on the charge of involuntary manslaughter. His wife, Beulah Massey Ivey, died following a still birth. Evidence showed that members of the "Holy Rollers," to which Ivey and his wife belonged,

"danced in the spirit" around the dying woman's bedside, talked and prayed in unknown tongues and performed other mysterious acts in the belief that the Lord would save Mrs. Ivey. The preliminary trial was held before County Judge James M. Long.

BARKSDALE HAMLETT IS DECLARED TO BE INSANE

Elizabethtown, Ky., June 12.—A jury in the Hardin Circuit Court this morning adjudged Barksdale Hamlett, former State Superintendent of Public Instruction, of unsound mind. He will be sent to Lakeland Asylum.

Mr. Hamlett will leave to-night for Lakeland. He was present in court when the case was tried and appeared nervous. He is physically debilitated as well and in bad health. Relatives of Mrs. Hamlett asked County Attorney R. A. Buckles to file the affidavit against Mr. Hamlett. His wife's divorce suit is still pending in Circuit Court here.

Barksdale Hamlett, who was the Democratic nominee for Secretary of State in the election last year, was the only Democrat on the State ticket to be defeated by a Republican. He instituted a contest against James P. Lewis, of Whitesburg, the successful candidate, and shortly afterward abandoned it. In the meantime his wife separated from him and instituted divorce proceedings in the Hardin Circuit Court at Elizabethtown. On top of this the State recently filed a lawsuit against Mr. Hamlett and his bondsmen for $69,000 alleging illegal expenditures in the Department of Education during his incumbency.

DEATH OF GEO. M. ROWE AT KANSAS CITY, MO.

Rockport, Ky., June 12.—Mr. George M. Rowe, a former citizen of this county, died at the home of his sister-in-law at 3304 Montgall ave., Kansas City, Mo., June 11, 1916, and was buried by the side of his first wife (who was Miss Sallie White) yesterday in Kansas City. He leaves a wife and one son, Eddie Rowe; two sisters, Mrs. Rachel Robertson, Rockport, Ky., and Mrs. Sallie Barrett, Beaver Dam, Ky.

He was a brother-in-law to Mr. A. D. White, Hartford, and Mrs. Sudie Bennett, Centertown, Ky.

He had been connected with the postal service for several years, formerly at Kansas City, Mo., but for the past several years at Houston, Tex. He resigned his work at Houston several months ago on account of ill health and went back to Kansas City. He was about 73 years of age and was born and reared at Centertown, Ky. He enlisted in the 17th Ky. Inf., during the Civil War and served three years.

DUTY TO SUPPORT WILSON SAYS ROCKEFELLER, JR.

Chicago, June 9.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., came here to-day to attend the quarter-centennial celebration of the University of Chicago and not to discuss Presidential candidates. He and his wife went to the home of Harry Pratt Judson, President of the university, where they will be guests until the close of the celebration to-morrow.

"I think President Wilson is doing the best that any man can do in such circumstances as have surrounded his Administration," he said. "It is the duty of every American citizen to support him. I am a Republican, but I am a Republican as I am a Baptist—right comes first and then comes church or party."

Delegates Out In Wet.

Chicago, June 9.—About the only persons in Chicago who are satisfied with the weather this week are the merchandise managers of downtown stores, which have profited by the heavy rains for three days and which stopped last night for the first time since the meeting of the Republican and Progressive national conventions. According to estimates made to-day by the big downtown stores, the rainstorm resulted in the sale of 18,000 umbrellas, 27,000 pairs of rubbers and 11,500 raincoats, most of which were bought by visitors to the conventions.

Appointment of an international commission to settle all questions in dispute between the United States and Mexico is being considered by the United States. Authority for such a step is given under the treaty of 1848.

MEAT SCARCER ARTICLE IN GERMANY JUST NOW

The Card Holders Wait In Line For Hours To Secure a Portion.

Berlin, June 10.—For the first time since the outbreak of the war meat is hard to obtain in the capital and larger cities of the German Empire. "Meat lines" have grown as long as the "butter and milk lines," and those forming them often must wait for hours before they can procure the quota allotted by their cards.

Responsible for this condition are the heavy demands made upon the meat supply by the army, an almost total cessation of imports and the Government's new policy of discouraging the slaughtering of meat animals before fattening has given them their maximum butcher weight. Cattle owners recently have shown a tendency to keep stock from the market because the maximum price arrangement has left them little profit.

Prospects for a good pork production are said to be excellent. Last fall the pork was poor in quality and quantity. In the winter of 1914-15 the Government, realizing that there would be a shortage in foodstuffs, advised that all pigs in good condition be slaughtered and their meat preserved.

This was done, but in many cases the meat was so poorly cured, owing to a lack of competent help, that it spoiled by the thousands of tons. Since then an effort has been made to bring back the pork production to something approaching normal proportions.

An improvement in the pork market would ease the shortage of fat in the empire, which is felt almost more than the shortage of meat. The necessity for an ample supply of animal fat has never been felt so by the people as at present, especially since the production of butter fell to almost nothing during the winter months.

There has been a slight improvement in the milk and butter situation, but it is considered to be out of the question that these articles again will be easily obtainable until several months after the war.

PABLO LOPEZ EXECUTED—FACED A FIRING SQUAD

Chihuahua City, June 8.—Pablo Lopez, Villa's chief lieutenant in the raid upon Columbus, N. M., has paid the penalty for his crimes, facing a firing squad of Constitutionalist soldiers at Santa Rosa, Chihuahua's place of execution.

Lopez, who at the orders of Villa, massacred eighteen American mining men at Santa Isabel, Chihuahua, in January and who is said to have directed the movements of the Mexicans at Columbus, expressed no regret.

The big clock in the Cuartel was booming 11 as he faced the firing squad. The officer in command gave the order to present arms. Lopez raised his head, smiled until his teeth showed, and then looking directly at the soldiers said:

"In the breast, brothers; in the breast."

Editorial Note—This is the same Pablo Lopez an interview with whom appeared in The Herald of May 31, first page.

NOTED GERMAN EDITOR PAYS TRIBUTE TO WILSON

Maximilian Harden, editor Die (Berlin) Zukunft: "He is a man of high moral and high intellectual rank, a man of whom, if he belonged to us, we might be proud. President Wilson is at least an American Fichte. Fichte was Germany's professor-statesman, who aroused humbled Prussia to a new sense of power after she had been crushed by Napoleon."

"Are we to talk about forbidding this or that 'tone' if President Wilson, after a thorough examination, is convinced that a long series of German acts of war have bored holes through the laws of humanity and international morality? He not only has the right, but the duty, to speak with ruthless plainness. He owes the fulfillment of this duty not only to his own, but also to our country."

If you have a happy home, keep it so; if not, make it so.

HISTORICAL EXPLOITS OF "QUININE JIM" MCKENZIE

Recalled By the Recently Increased Cost Of This Well Known Drug.

The Cleveland Plain-Dealer, stirred by the increased cost of quinine, from 40 cents to $2.50 an ounce since the outbreak of the European war, editorializes at some length upon the great specific, gives the history of it and of the men who have been chiefly concerned with it. Beginning with the two French chemists who discovered cinchona bark in 1830, to Sir Clement Markham, who went to Peru in 1952 and learned how to plant the tree, and finally to the German chemists who learned how to grow quinine in back yards, everybody who had anything to do with the malaria medicine is mentioned—except "Quinine Jim" McKenzie.

It will be remembered that quinine used to sell as high as $5.00 an ounce—twice the present war-time price. A single firm in Philadelphia, Powers & Weightman, had a quinine monopoly, and the Government maintained that monopoly for them by a genuinely protective tariff—a tariff that completely protected Powers & Weightman. Those were days when quinine was greatly needed, much more widely needed than now, and the monopoly grew mighty fat. Finally a Kentucky constituency sent to Congress a gentleman who lived in South Christian and knew chills and fever in his own proper person. He proposed to put quinine on the free list. He was laughed at, but continued to talk free quinine, think free quinine, live free quinine. And he pounded until he got free quinine. So far as the United States is concerned, McKenzie did a heap more than Markham and the German scientists in making quinine cheap and abundant. Forty-cent quinine was the invention.

The present high price of quinine is nobody's fault but our own. If we preferred buying it from Germany to growing it in the garden or encouraging South American production, we, of course, had to take the consequences when a European war shut us off from Germany. We may profit by the experience and do a little more in the future toward producing what we consume. Really, that is just as important for a nation as it is for a farmer.—[Nashville Tennessean.]

RUSSIAN GYPSIES OFFER $7,500 TO ESCAPE BATH

What is probably the record price to escape a bath was offered recently to the Cuban Government by 75 Russian gypsies who went to Miss Mary Gilmore and Miss Marie S. Oerther, of this city, who arrived here yesterday aboard the steamship Tenadores, of the United Fruit line. "Each one offered the immigration authorities of Cuba $100," said Miss Gilmore, who is a member of Miss Maude Adams's Company. "Just think of it—$100 apiece, a total of $7,500 rather than take a bath! The authorities insisted upon their bathing and refused to allow any of the band to land unless they did."

"The gypsies protested that they had not taken a bath in five years and that they would suffer any indignity rather than submit to ablutions which they had escaped so long. The money, which was tendered to the chief of the Immigration Department in cold cash, was declined, and as the gypsies stood upon their inalienable right to go unbathed they were deported aboard the Pastores to Colon."—[New York Herald.]

An Effective Mask.

"Such a lot of things happened this afternoon, dear," said Mrs. Youngbride to her husband. "I complained to Norah about the stove not being blackened and she put on her things and left. Then I decided to black the stove myself, and right in the midst of it who should call but Mrs. De Style."

"What in the world did you do?" "I just put some more blacking on my face, went to the door and told her I wasn't in. And off she went, saying she would call again."

Possibly an honest man might be otherwise if an opportunity worth while were to knock at his front door.

DECREE OF THE POPE PUTS BAN ON DANCING

"Perils and Losses Caused By Growing Custom" Is the Reason Given.

New York, June 8.—Pope Benedict has caused the issuance of an edict forbidding any society under parochial jurisdiction from giving any entertainment where there is dancing. The congregations of the Roman Catholic parishes of this city were surprised by this action, and the workers who have used the annual balls as a chief means of raising society funds were confronted with a problem of finding a substitute entertainment.

The papal decree is said to apply only to the United States and Canada.

"In the last century in the United States the custom sprang up of gathering Catholic families to balls, which used to be protracted to a late hour at night by entertainments and other forms of amusements," begins the decree. It continues:

"The reason and cause given for this was that Catholics might get to know each other better and become more intimately united in the bonds of love and charity. Those who were used to preside over the gatherings were generally the heads of some pious work, but rarely the rectors or the parish priests of churches."

"But the ordinaries of the place, although they entertained no doubt of the upright purposes of those who prompted these dances, still, looking at the perils and losses caused by the growing custom, considered it their duty to forbid them."

TOWN BUILT ON POTASH IS GROWING VERY FAST

Hoffand, Neb., from a little railroad siding a year ago, with two or three cars standing on the track, has grown until it has been placed on the railroad map as a full-fledged town, shipping out 30 cars a day. Hoffand promises to grow still more. It is all on account of potash and its by-products. The fields at Hoffand are the only ones in the United States where the almost pure article is found. In Utah and Southern California, where the mineral is taken from kelp beds, the cost of reducing the pure potash from the vegetable matter makes the marketable product expensive.

Here is found an almost pure article that necessitates nothing but pumping, boiling and drying, when it is ready for the refinery, where it brings the heretofore unknown price of $500 a ton. A Chicago packing company has contracted for the town's entire output for five years. —[Omaha World-Herald.]

DEAF CLEVELAND GIRL IS TAUGHT TO SING

Columbus, O., June 10.—Teaching a deaf person to sing, a feat which hitherto generally had been considered to be impossible, has been accomplished by Mrs. Christian Born, wife of a Columbus brewer, after weeks of experimenting with Magdalene Sattler, an eighteen-year-old Cleveland student at the State School for the Deaf here, according to announcement.

Miss Helen Keller, of New York, the eminent deaf and blind student, was in Columbus Friday for the purpose of testing out Mrs. Born's new process. Thomas A. Edison, inventor, also is said to be interested in Mrs. Born's experiments. Mrs. Born's experiments to prove her theory that the sense of hearing is not altogether essential in singing, have been conducted in secret for several months, and were not made public until Friday. The new teaching method consists of facial expressions, accompanied by piano tones, which the student cannot hear. To date the Cleveland girl has mastered more than an octave of notes, enough, scientists say, to prove that the new method is a success.

Restored To Good Health.

"I was sick for four years with stomach trouble," writes Mrs. Otto Gans, Zanesville, Ohio. "I lost weight and felt so weak that I almost gave up hope of being cured. A friend told me about Chamberlain's Tablets, and since using two bottles of them I have been a well woman." Obtainable everywhere. Advertisement.

PAROLE IS GIVEN TO BEACH HARGIS

Serving Life Term For Killing Father.

HAD MADE MODEL PRISONER

Freedom Is Conditional Upon
His Abstaining From All Intoxicating Liquors.

WILL NOW "CARE FOR MOTHER"

Frankfort, Ky., June 7.—Beach Hargis, serving a life term for killing his father, Judge James Hargis, famous feud leader and mountain capitalist, at Jackson, in February, 1908, was paroled this afternoon by the State Board of Prison Commissioners and left for Lexington, where his mother is ill in a hospital.

The parole was sent over for Gov. Stanley's approval as soon as it was issued, and Miss Minnie Mahler, secretary to the Governor, presented the parole to Hargis in person. He has had his hopes dashed so many times in the last few years that he was almost speechless when the precious paper at last was placed in his own hand, and he just managed to stammer thanks. He went up street and bought a new suit of clothes before taking the interurban for Lexington.

As to his plans for the future he said he intends to "care for mother," but in his original application for clemency he promised not to go back to Jackson to live.

The parole is conditional upon Beach's abstaining from liquor and this he said he would do. He has been on probation for the last four years, during which time he has been a hospital attendant with access to the drug cabinet, containing spirits. He was promoted more than a year ago to be steward. He is skilled in minor surgery, is an excellent nurse and is interested in the hospital work.

His prison record is perfect, and few prisoners have had as strong recommendations for executive clemency. Liquor was his besetting evil, and had he not gone on a spree and shot up the town, it is generally believed he would never have been convicted of killing his father. The first jury in Estill county, where he was tried, stood ten for acquittal and two for conviction.

After his conviction on his second trial he appealed, and Judge H. S. Barker, now president of State University, dissented from the majority opinion of the Court of Appeals, which affirmed the life sentence. Judge Barker in a letter to the Prison Board said he did not believe Beach Hargis had a fair trial and still thinks so. At the bottom of this letter is a pencil notation signed by former Appellate Judge J. S. Nunn, who also sat in the case, stating that he agrees in the main with what Judge Barker said. Letters also are on file from Judges John M. Lassing and E. C. O'Rear, who said they recall that there were grave doubts in the minds of some of the Judges as to whether young Hargis received justice, and one from Judge Hobson said that drink apparently was at the bottom of Beach's offense and if the authorities thought he had conquered the habit he would be in favor of giving him a chance.

Attorney General James Breathitt, who briefed the case on appeal for the Commonwealth, recommended a conditional pardon; but Gov. Wilson, while recognizing mitigating circumstances, did not feel justified in extending clemency so soon after conviction.

Beach Hargis was received at the Frankfort prison in March, 1910. He was 24 years old at the time. He had shot and killed his father, who had choked him at the time. Several days before his father had severely beaten Beach and driven him out. Beach slept in a barn and returned to the store in Jackson, being informed that his father had left town and intended to prepare to go to his uncle's home in the country.

The encounter with his father was accidental and he insisted that he shot in self-defense, believing that his father was killing him. At the trial evidence was given of brutal treatment by his father, and it was said in mitigation that Beach's father, who was a feud leader in the Breathitt county troubles, had caused the boy to associate with disreputable characters among his henchmen and the boy was led into a reckless life of shooting and drunkenness.

Mother Greets Son.
Lexington, Ky., June 7.—"Why, hello, where have you been?" exclaimed Mrs. Tom Ellen Hargis, as she threw her arms around the neck of her son, Beach Hargis, when he reached her room at the Good Samaritan hospital about thirty minutes after his arrival in Lexington this evening from Frankfort, where he had been paroled from State's prison this afternoon.

Mrs. Hargis has been at the Good Samaritan hospital for several weeks suffering from nervous prostration brought on by her efforts to secure her son's release. She has been confined to her bed and only arose this evening, buoyed up by the prospect of seeing her son free.

Seeing, But Not Hearing.

A Colonel on his round of inspection unexpectedly entered the drill room, according to the Baltimore American, where he came across a couple of soldiers, one reading a letter aloud while the other was listening and at the same time stopping up the ears of the reader.

"What are you doing there?" the puzzled officer inquired.

"You see, Colonel, I'm reading to Maguire, who can't read himself, a letter which arrived by this afternoon's mail from his sweetheart."

"And you, Maguire, what in the world are you doing?"

"Please, Colonel, I am stopping up Murphy's ears with both hands, because I don't mind his reading my sweetheart's letter, but I don't want him to hear a single word of what she has written."

CHINESE PRESIDENT IS NUMBERED WITH DEAD

Li Yuan Hung, Rebel Sympathizer, Gets Office—May Check Revolution.

Peking, June 6.—Yuan Chi Kai, President of the Chinese republic, died to-day. Premier Tuan Chi Jui immediately advised Li Yuan Hung, the Vice President, of his succession to the Presidency. Yuan Chi Kai had been ill for several days with stomach trouble, which was followed by a nervous breakdown.

Quiet prevails to-day in the capital. The death of the President apparently solves the heated political crisis. Li Yuan Hung's succession to the Presidency meets the demands of the leaders in the Southern provinces.

Yuan Shi Kai was reported to have been taken seriously ill on May 28. At that time dispatches from China said it was believed in Peking that the President had been poisoned, but this report was denied by the Chinese Ambassador at Washington, who insisted the President was not even ill.

Yuan Chi Kai died while the storms of revolution were gathering in increasing strength.

Long before Yuan Chi Kai was widely known abroad he had been accepted by the Manchus, the Chinese and the foreigners in China as a coming man.

Li Yuan Hung is 52 years old. He served on a cruiser during the China-Japanese war and later entered the army, holding several commands and spending two years in Japan to study fortifications. On the outbreak of the revolution at Wuchang he was coerced into accepting command of the revolutionary forces, whose operations he directed. He was mainly instrumental in arranging the Shanghai peace conference and after the abdication of the Manchus was elected Vice President and appointed chief of the general staff. He was made a general and in October, 1913, was re-elected Vice President.

ADVICE FOR PROCEDURE DURING THUNDERSTORMS

Do not use the telephone. The telephone wires may receive a heavy charge.

Keep away from stoves, radiators and the like. They are large metallic masses, likely to become heavily charged.

Avoid screen doors or other metallic bodies connecting with the exterior of the building.

Keep away from chimneys and open screen windows.

Out of doors the most dangerous places are under isolated trees and near wire fences in open fields.

Small sheds and other shelters are dangerous if isolated from larger buildings.

Places are under isolated trees and safest place to seek out of doors, since a single tree in a forest is not so likely to receive a stroke as a single person or an object in an open space of equal area.—[Country Gentleman.]

ENGLAND VICTIM OF SEA TRAGEDY

Earl Kitchener and His Staff Go Down.

WAR CHIEF WAS ON HIS WAY

To Russia In the Interest Of the Allies When He Met Sad Fate.

MINE OR TORPEDO DID WORK

London, June 6.—All Britain was stunned to-night by grief over the tragic death of Earl Kitchener, Minister of War who, with his entire staff, was drowned last night off the Orkney Islands when the cruiser Hampshire, on which they were en route to Russia, was sunk either by a mine or torpedo.

First official news of England's greatest personal loss since the war began was made public by the Admiralty just before noon to-day in the following official statement received from Admiral Jellicoe:

"The Commander in Chief of the Grand Fleet reports with deep regret that H. M. S. Hampshire, Captain Herbert J. Savill, R. N., with Lord Kitchener and his staff on board, was sunk last night about 8 o'clock to the west of the Orkney Islands, either by a mine or a torpedo.

"Four boats were seen by observers on shore to leave the ship. The wind was north-northwest and a heavy sea was running. Patrol vessels and destroyers at once proceeded to the spot, and a party was sent along the coast to search, but only a few bodies and a capsized boat have been found up to the present. As the whole shore has been searched from the seaward, I greatly fear that there is little hope of there being any survivors.

"No report has yet been received from the search party on shore. H. M. S. Hampshire was on her way to Russia."

Accompanying Earl Kitchener as his staff were Hugh James O'Beirne, former Counselor of the British Embassy at Petrograd and former Minister at Sofia; Colonel O. A. Fitzgerald, private military secretary to the War Minister; Brigadier General Ellershaw, Sir Hay Frederick Donaldson, technical adviser to the Minister of Munitions; Lieutenant R. D. McPherson, aid; F. S. Robertson and Detective McLaughlin.

Officers and men aboard the Hampshire numbered between 400 and 500.

The War Minister and his staff were proceeding to Russia at the invitation of the Czar of Russia on a special mission to discuss important questions connected with the military and financial conduct of the war.

It is understood on high authority that Earl Kitchener's visit to Russia was kept profoundly secret. It was practically impossible for the Germans to have learned either that he was going or on what route the ship was traveling.

That the Hampshire was torpedoed by German design therefore is generally discounted. It is believed in the highest circles that the ship either struck a mine or was torpedoed in a chance encounter with a German submarine.

News of the death of England's beloved "K of K" rapidly spread through the streets. Everywhere the sad tidings created the utmost consternation, and expressions of deep sorrow were unnumbered.

Queer Mode of Fishing.

The Leitchfield Gazette is responsible for this fish story:

Henry Cecil, of Ceilia, in a lake near his home, has devised a most successful and novel way to catch fish, according to Roy Bond. Mr. Cecil has a number of ducks that frequent this lake. He ties a short fishing line to the duck's foot with the hook baited. The duck swims about the lake, fishing all over it. When a fish "bites" he pulls the duck's leg and Mr. Duck, not understanding what this means, turns and flees to the shore just as fast as he can. Then Mr. Cecil takes off the fish, rebaits the hook and throws the duck back into the lake to renew the fishing. He has a number of ducks fishing for him at the same time and has caught 100 pounds of fish this way.

BABE WAS TAKEN FROM MOTHER ON PRETENSE

Was Finally Recovered By Owensboro Officials—A Rather Puzzling Circumstance.

The Owensboro Messenger of Thursday says:

The officials of the Mary Kendall Home are confronted with a problem which promises difficulty of solution. Tuesday afternoon the Home received a telephone message from Miss Ruth Mitchell, of Fordsville, making inquiry as to the welfare of her two-months-old baby supposed to be a ward of the charitable institution. Upon being advised that the child was not at the Home the mother stated that she would come to Owensboro on the first train, as the baby had been taken from her last week by a woman representing herself to be one of the managers of the Home.

Upon her arrival in Owensboro Wednesday morning Miss Mitchell went at once to the Home. Greatly agitated, she told the matron and nurses in charge that she was the mother of a child but a little over two months old. One day last week a woman, giving her name as Mrs. Ethel Hines, appeared at Fordsville and called on Miss Mitchell, telling her that the Home had learned of the birth of an illegitimate child of which she was the mother. The woman said that she had come to Fordsville for the purpose of taking the child to Owensboro and placing it in the Mary Kendall Home, where it would be cared for.

The mother consulted with relatives and friends and turned over her child to the woman. Later, becoming anxious about the matter, she communicated with the Home. Upon learning that the child had never been received at the Home and that the woman representing herself as being connected with the institution was an imposter, the frantic mother, accompanied by the matron, called upon Chief of Police Bell for aid in locating the child.

An investigation carried on by Chief Bell and Patrolman Ernest Bellow resulted in the finding of the child at the home of Ethel Heflin, living at 1708 Lewis street, who was identified by Miss Mitchell as being the woman to whom she turned over the child at Fordsville. The Heflin woman denied ever seeing the mother, but the child was taken to the Mary Kendall Home and given to its mother, who returned with it to her home in Fordsville last night. Ethel Heflin refused to make any statement concerning the child.

The police are puzzled as to what motive prompted the Heflin woman to make the trip to Fordsville for the child and are equally puzzled as to what action to take in regard to the question of a possible prosecution. The question was referred to County Attorney Herman Birkhead late last night for decision and advice.

Bilious Attacks.

When you have a bilious attack your liver fails to perform its functions. You become constipated. The food you eat ferments in your stomach instead of digesting. This inflames the stomach and causes nausea, vomiting and a terrible headache. Take Chamberlain's Tablets. They will tone up your liver, clean out your stomach and you will soon be as well as ever. They only cost a quarter. Obtainable everywhere. Advertisements.

Presidential Pointers.

Of our twenty-eight different Presidents eighteen have been college men, and yet Washington, Jackson, Lincoln and McKinley are among those who had no college education. William and Mary and Harvard lead with three representatives each, Princeton with two and Yale one. Grant was, of course, a West Pointer.

Kidney disease often advances so rapidly that many a person is firmly in its grasp before aware of its progress. Prompt attention should be given the slightest symptom of kidney disorder. If there is a dull pain in the back, headaches, dizzy spells or a tired, worn-out feeling, or if the kidney secretions are offensive, irregular and attended with pain, procure a good kidney remedy at once.

Thousands recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read the statement below.

Mrs. A. P. Hester, 608 Hathaway street, Owensboro, Ky., says: "For five years, I had kidney disease in its worst form. I suffered from rheumatic twinges and was laid up for weeks at a time. My limbs were badly swollen and I had pain in my left side. The kidney secretions were unnatural and I couldn't get my proper rest. My body bloated and my case was a puzzle to doctors. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me and now I feel like a different woman."

In the coming Presidential campaign the Democrats will go before the people with a record for good that no administration ever attained before. The currency law, the downward revision of the tariff, the establishment of the Federal Trade Commission, the revision of the anti-trust laws—these things have been done for business men by the Democrats. The Rural Credits bill and the Shipping bill to restore the American merchant marine—these are in the course of enactment. It is a record of which any American ought to be proud, regardless of political affiliation.

With all the artifices known to politics and as finally practiced in a political convention, Col. Roosevelt did not succeed in working his bluff to compel the Republican assembly at Chicago to nominate him for President. With cold and stoical indifference the delegates and managers listened to the overtures made by himself and his managers and then nominated another man—Chief Justice Hughes. If they can finally eliminate Teddy the campaign will proceed along high lines, for Mr. Hughes is not only an able man, but his public life has been free from intrigue and calumny.

After yelling themselves almost speechless for Teddy (at one time the applause lasted an hour and 35 minutes at mention of his name) the delegates of the Progressive Presidential convention at Chicago had their loyalty trampled under foot by the Rough Rider when he disgustingly declined their hearty nomination because the Republican convention, assembled across the way, did not join in with his own well trained cohorts. Such is politics and such is Teddy. It was a movement very characteristic of the man. If he cannot play the leading role, he will take his doll rags and go home.

The Democratic National Convention to nominate a candidate for President will assemble at St. Louis to-day. President Wilson has no opposition for re-nomination and re-election and his endorsement is a foregone conclusion. A strong platform will be adopted, but the main issue of the campaign will be the record and performances of Wilson since he has occupied the Presidential chair. Only the most bitter partisan can deny his splendid accomplishments. We need him four years more and especially do we need him on account of the war situation which he has so well in hand.

The lone negro Phil Brown who went from Kentucky as one of the delegates-at-large to the Republican National Convention at St. Louis found himself very much scorned and spat upon because he ventured to use his little old half a vote as he pleased, without giving way to the dictation of his white political bosses. In the contest between Col. Hirt and Col. McCulloch, claiming to be national committeemen, Brown voted for Hirt. For this act he was subjected to various kinds of humiliation and scorn by his white colleagues, one of whom tried to displace Brown with another negro for a place sought by the Kentucky colored delegate. Will Kentucky negroes never learn that the Republican party has no use for them, only their votes?

A MOTHER'S LOYALTY TO HER SON IN TROUBLE

The Owensboro Messenger of Sunday says:

Had Chief of Police Helt possessed the pardoning power he would certainly have exercised it Saturday afternoon when a frail little old lady, footsore from a walk of fifteen miles over country roads from Mosleyville, entered police headquarters. She stated that she was the mother of P. C. Vinyard, and in a trembling voice told that some one had telephoned her that her son was in trouble and needed her help.

An inspection of the police blotter showed that Vinyard had been fined $15 for disorderly conduct. When informed of the amount and added costs of prosecution the little mother counted out the money in small coins into the hands of the Big Chief until she had satisfied the demands of justice and asked for her boy. The incident was a pathetic one and more than one pair of eyes were moist as the loyal mother and the erring son started together back to their home.

Vinyard was arrested Friday evening on complaint made by a number of young girls that he had adressed remarks to them as they were passing him along the street. It was claimed that he attempted to follow one young girl who complained to the police and the boy was placed in custody.

FORMER HARTFORD GIRL
MEETING WITH SUCCESS

"At a very early date we will present to our patrons a screen drama from the pen of one who lives in our midst. The name of the photoplay is 'GOLD DUST,' and was produced in two reels by the Essanay Company. The story was written by Mrs. Holmes Cummins, a novelist of high repute, who is making her residence in this city. She has written several stories for popular magazines, which will no doubt reach the screen in due time. Since writing 'GOLD DUST,' Mrs. Cummins has had many requests from the different film manufacturers for more of her work, as photoplay scenarios are much in demand at the present time. We look forward to seeing her first screen drama with pleasant anticipation."

Editorial Note—Almost everybody in Hartford—except the children, and they have heard of her—remembers with much pleasure Miss Tula Pendleton, the talented daughter of that prince of good men and famous surgeons, old Dr. J. E. Pendleton, who passed away some years ago. Mrs. Holmes Cummins is none other than Hartford's gracious daughter of other days, who has written herself into fame in the magazines of late years and has now diverted her talents just a little into writing screen dramas. It will also please Mrs. Cummins' many friends here to know that Edward J. O'Brien, the great short-story critic, has named one of her stories in his list of "Stories of Character for 1915," an honor coveted by American story-writers everywhere. It is indeed pleasant to ponder these things, and pleasure is heightened by the well known fact that all these honors, which have followed worthy accomplishments, are so richly merited.

Quite a number of Centertown folks attended the all-day service and dinner at Point Pleasant church yesterday.

Mr. Cecil Calvert, who has been ill of malaria for the past two weeks, is able to be out again.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nelson, of McHenry, motored over Sunday to see their mother, Mrs. Lou Maddox, and sister, Miss Pearl Tichenor.

Mr. Louis Goodall and daughter Nellie and J. B. Warden, who have been in Cincinnati for the past several months, are at home again.

Mr. Roy Chapman, who has been located at Crossville, Ill., for the past six weeks, has accepted a position with the L. & N. R. Co. at Moorman, Ky.

Mr. E. F. Jackson, of the firm of Jackson Bros., left last week for St. Louis, Mo., where he has been engaged to do some carpenter work.

Mrs. Ethel Heflin, of Evansville, Ind., is visiting her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Rowe.

Mr. Geo. Moseman, of St. Louis, is visiting the family of Seloto Hoeker.

Mrs. H. R. Barnard Dead.

The Owensboro Inquirer of Monday says:

The funeral services over the remains of Mrs. H. R. Barnard, who died at an early hour Sunday morning at her apartments, 502 Davies street, were conducted at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Third Baptist church by Rev. Sam P. Martin, pastor. The remains were then shipped to Beaver Dam where the interment took place. Mrs. Barnard is survived by her husband, one son, Harold Barnard; two sisters, Mrs. Bernie Davis, of this city, and Mrs. W. C. Sexton, of Nashville, and one brother, Claude Baldwin, of Chicago; also her mother, Mrs. B. L. Baldwin, of this city.

Ban On Street Carnivals.

Lexington, Ky., June 10.—The official ban was put on street carnivals and street fairs here when the City Commissioners passed an ordinance prohibiting all such exhibitions in Lexington in the future, stipulating that licenses should not be issued for same and providing for a penalty of from $5 to $50 for violation of the ordinance.

Mrs. Clara Himes, wife of Thomas Himes, died near Rockport, this county, last Thursday and buried Friday. She leaves a husband and three children.

Furthermore, if Fortune ever knocks at our door we are going to grab her around the neck, even if we get splattered with talcum powder.

WILSON'S RECORD TO BE FEATURED IN PLATFORM

To Be Adopted At St. Louis—
President Completes Preliminary Draft.

Washington, June 9.—The outcome of the Administration's efforts to keep the United States out of war and at the same time maintain the national honor will be the foundation of the foreign affairs plank and one of the emphasized points in the platform to be adopted by the Democratic National Convention at St. Louis, according to authoritative information obtained from Administration sources. Since the renomination of President Wilson and Vice President Marshall is regarded as assured, the platform now is receiving the chief attention of Democratic leaders.

As a result of conferences with members of his Cabinet and other advisers President Wilson, who personally began work several days ago on a platform to be submitted to the convention by party leaders, virtually has completed a preliminary draft, leaving only details to be finished after the Republican and Progressive conventions at Chicago. The President utilized as a basis for this work features of the Missouri State Democratic platform, which was prepared under the direction of the White House.

The Mexican situation will be referred to, it is said, by praise of the President's refusal to allow the nation to be drawn into the internal strife raging in Mexico, and of his prompt action in ordering troops across the border after the Columbus massacre.

Another section is expected to laud the Administration for maintaining the Monroe Doctrine and fostering a fair dealing with the other republics of the Western hemisphere, resulting in the building up of trade with those nations.

Finally, it is understood, the foreign affairs plank will align the party behind the President placing "America first" with reference to all questions, both international and domestic.

The tariff is expected to be the subject of an important plank, the platform coupling the Underwood revision with the currency law and other constructive legislation of the past four years. In a prosperity declaration, President Wilson's preparedness program will occupy another prominent place in the platform.

A COURTSHIP BY MAIL
RESULTS IN A WEDDING

The Owensboro Messenger of Sunday says:

As the result of a courtship carried on through the mails for several weeks past between H. T. McCune, aged fifty-eight years, of Pittsburg, and Mrs. M. E. Moore, aged fifty-seven years, living at Greenville, Muhlenberg county, the couple were quietly married at the parsonage of Settle Memorial Methodist church by J. R. Savage, Saturday afternoon.

Neither party had seen the other prior to their meeting Saturday. Mr. McCune, who is a well-to-do paper hanger and painter, arrived in the city Saturday morning, and was met at the station by Mrs. Moore. The couple spent the morning in getting really acquainted and were married shortly after noon.

The couple will leave this morning for Mrs. McCune's former home in Muhlenberg county, when, after making a disposition of her farm and town property to tenants, they will go to Pittsburg, where they will reside in the future.

Merely Warned.

El Paso, Tex., June 10.—United States custom officials here were warning Americans to-day that owing to conditions in Mexico, it is inexpedient to attempt to visit the interior of that country. These warnings were issued, it was said, on instructions from Washington.

Reports that customs inspectors had been instructed to permit no Americans to cross the frontier are groundless.

Falls On Point Of Plow.

Newport, Ky., June 10.—William Bertke, a business man, was probably fatally injured to-day when he fell down an elevator shaft. He alighted on the sharp point of a plow which penetrated his back. The accident happened at the Minges Hardware Company's store.

Swims Seven Miles.

Evansville, Ind., June 11.—Philip Brock, of this city, a member of Company B of the engineering corps in the United States army, who is home from the Philippine Islands on a furlough, attempted to swim the Ohio river from here to Henderson, Ky., a distance of fourteen miles, to-day. After he had swam seven miles he was seized with cramps and had to abandon the feat. He will make another attempt Sunday, June 25. Brock says he swam across Manila Bay.

MEETING OF THE BAPTIST
MISSIONARY SOCIETIES

Following is the program for an all-day meeting of the Missionary Societies of the Ohio County Baptist Association to be held in the Hartford Baptist church, June 28, 1916, 10:00 a. m.:

Hymn. Scripture reading. Prayer. Introductory remarks—Mrs. R. L. Creal. Responsibility of Southern Baptists—Mrs. R. D. Walker. Address—Mrs. Rose. Hymn. Cooperation with the Sunday School—discussion. Noon.

Hymn. Prayer. Problems of the Home Board—Mrs. E. B. Pendleton. Reading. Address—Miss Priest. The Training School—Miss Norene Coleman. Discussion.

A representative from every church in the Association is very much desired. Mrs. Rose, of the Central Committee, and Miss Priest, a returned missionary from China, will address the meeting. A cordial invitation is extended to the ladies of other churches to attend.

MRS. R. L. CREAL, Supt.

Slipper Bargains

We have gone through our stock of Misses' and Children's Slippers with a view to closing out all the odd sizes and styles, and to our surprise we find an accumulation larger than we anticipated. These slippers run in sizes from 5 to 14, and are found in tan, black, white and velvet. None of these sold for less than 75c, and some as high as $2.00. Now, we mean to close these out. Of course, we are losing on them, but why keep them?

Now, the story is this: You may need them, and the price is so you can buy them. Listen! All this week you will find them on the center table, and the price to you is

The Owensboro Messenger among other things says: "The Republicans returning from Chicago say that in event of the election of Hughes by the Republicans that M. L. Heavrin, a Hartford attorney, will be made Collector of Internal Revenue for this district in return for his support of the Hughes faction at Chicago."

Mary Ola Evans, aged 23, daughter of R. L. Evans, Fordsville, was brought before Judge Jno. B. Wilson yesterday and a jury was empaneled to inquire into her sanity. After hearing the evidence the jury returned a verdict adjudging her to be of unsound mind—a lunatic—and she was conveyed to the asylum at Hopkinsville yesterday afternoon. Miss Evans is deaf and dumb.

A drizzling rain interfered with the annual Maccabee decoration services at Oakwood Sunday, but nevertheless the main part of the program was carried out. The graves of six departed Knights and also of two lady Maccabees were decorated. A committee in an auto was also sent out to Alexander cemetery, about 2 1/2 miles north of Hartford, to decorate the grave of Sir Knight Almon R. Tinsley.

Assistant Supt. Devney, of Evansville, and Trainmaster Wise, of Earlinton, came up Monday and conferred with the local attorney for the L. & N. and others concerning the petition for better train service on the M., H. & E. It has not been decided whether an improved passenger service can be given, but these officials expressed a desire to meet the public demand for better service, if possible.

There has been a change in the local management of the Cumberland Telephone Co., by which Mr. John Bircher, who has been in charge here for a year or two past, goes back to his old home at Brandenburg, and Mr. O. F. Riddle, of Utica, Ky., takes Mr. Bircher's place. Mr. Riddle is here now and will bring his wife and baby in a few weeks. Mr. Bircher will leave about tomorrow or next day. Mr. and Mrs. Bircher have made many friends here who regret to give them up.

Supt. Ozna Shults returned last Saturday from a 10-days absence at Dermott, Ark., where he had been engaged in conducting the joint teachers' institute for Desha and Chicot counties. His services were secured by Supt. U. C. Barnett, who conducted the Ohio County Institute last summer. The Dermott News speaks in high terms of Supt. Shults' work in conducting the joint institute. His address at the Methodist church at Dermott, June 4th, was replete with good things and well received and we regret that the lack of space precludes a more extended notice. Miss Corinne Shults, his daughter, attended to the duties of Supt. Shults' office during his absence.

A KILLING IN HAYTI— NEGRO GIRL THE VICTIM

A killing which strongly resembles murder occurred in Hayti, Hartford's negro suburb, about 8:30 Sunday night. The parties involved were young colored people. It seems that Will McHenry and Clyde Rucker were on the pavement in front of Gus Ford's grocery when Marshall Nall came up. Nall and the Rucker girl were sweethearts and it is said that jealousy inspired the shot. Some words were passed when the Nall fellow went after a shotgun and returning, shot the Rucker girl dead. Nall claims he was shooting at the McHenry boy. The load of shot entered the Rucker girl's side, tearing a large hole, and she expired in a few minutes. Nall came to Hartford to give himself up, but Jailor Midkiff would not receive him because the negro would not explain just what he had done to be locked up. Afterwards Nall was arrested and lodged in jail. He waived examining trial and his case comes up for indictment at the July term of the Ohio Circuit Court.

Keown-Tinsley.

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cal P. Keown, Main street, Hartford, this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, Miss Alice Keown will be united in marriage to Prof. Raymer Tinsley. Rev. E. C. Stevens, managing editor of the Western Recorder, Louisville, Ky., and an old friend of the bridegroom, will officiate. The wedding will be a very quiet affair, only a few friends besides the family relatives being invited. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple will leave for Chicago, where Prof. Tinsley will take a post-graduate summer course in German and French at the University of Chicago, at the close of which he will return to the University of Mississippi, at Oxford, where he taught last year and will teach again the coming year.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keown and is one of Hartford's most beloved and accomplished young ladies. To the charms of an educated and delightful personality she adds the graces of a splendid and beautiful young womanhood.

Prof. Tinsley, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Tinsley, is one of Hartford's boys who has gone out into the world and "made good" in the fullest sense of the word. His natural talent is teaching and he has cultivated it both at home and abroad until he is now recognized as one of the most proficient instructors in foreign languages to be found anywhere, and he is still climbing.

The many friends of this most exceptionally well suited pair wish them all the joys of a long wedded life.

KENTUCKY DEMOCRATS ON A BADLY WRECKED TRAIN

Owensboro, Ky., June 13.—The Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis passenger train No. 145, leaving Louisville at 9:20 o'clock Monday night, was wrecked three blocks from the Owensboro station at 1:36 o'clock this morning, two sleepers leaving the rails and another turning completely over, carrying with it Gov. A. O. Stanley and a large number of Kentucky Democrats en route to St. Louis to attend the Democratic National Convention.

A number of the passengers were injured, but none seriously. At 2 o'clock this morning all of the passengers had been removed from the overturned coach, which was completely wrecked. It was necessary to cut through the automobile with axes to liberate the passengers. That no one was killed is remarkable, as one of the sleepers turned completely over. A split rail is said to have caused the accident.

Odd Fellows Have Big Time.

The local order of the Odd Fellows gave a banquet at the Commercial Hotel Tuesday evening of last week. An appetizing dinner was prepared by W. C. Schlemmer and served under the supervision of the committee. A big meeting had been planned, but the weather prevented the invited lodges from being present. A large delegation had arranged to come from Owensboro in automobiles but a message from them early in the day stated that it would be impossible to make the trip. Despite the disappointment a great time was enjoyed by local members of this live order.

Losses In Mexico.

Up to May 20 the expedition into Mexico had cost 359 lives, according to figures that were published on that date, including those lost in the Columbus, N. M., raid, which precipitated the pursuit of Villa and his bandits. The total casualties to May 20 show the following figures: Killed—United States soldiers, 30; civilians, 24; Mexican soldiers, 301. Wounded—United States officers, 6; soldiers, 76; civilians, 71; Mexican soldiers, 97. Of the American soldiers wounded, four who died of their wounds are carried in the wounded column, thereby increasing the list of killed or died from wounds to 34. Two are also carried in the wounded list, including one civilian who disappeared in the Glen Springs raid and one soldier at Paranal, neither of whom has since been heard from.—[Army and Navy Journal.

THE HARTFORD HERALD

PRICE ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR

WILSON'S RECORD
THE MAIN ISSUE

Which Will Confront Voters This Year.

THE GREAT ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Of Our President Stand Out Among Wonderful Deeds Of Statesmanship.

DEEDS THAT WIN GOOD NAME

What honest issue can be raised against the re-election of President Wilson and the continuation of the Democratic party in power?

With Germany having yielded to the demands of the American Government, conceding all the points raised by President Wilson in defense of American rights and for the upholding of American honor, can there be any question of the efficiency of the handling of foreign affairs?

Will the Republican party contend that despite the fact that President Wilson won a great diplomatic victory, not merely for the people of the United States, but for civilization itself, this country nevertheless should have gone to war with Germany?

When President Wilson gave the order for the American troops to enter Mexico to break up the bandit lands which had been causing the loss of life and property along the border, the Republican leaders in Congress applauded the firm action that was taken. It was agreed by the Republican leaders in the Senate and House that no other action was possible.

Will they say now that the United States Government should withdraw the troops from Mexico or will they say that the United States should declare war against Mexico?

So far the opposition party has confined itself to vague and general statements that the handling of foreign affairs will be made an issue. The count will have to be more specific or else it will be given short shrift in the court of public opinion. President Wilson's statesmanship has forced the respect of the world, and the knowledge of his reserve power, the realization that a united nation stood behind him, have kept the country at peace while millions of men are being sacrificed on the battlefields of Europe, because such statesmanship in Europe, was lacking when most needed.

Can preparedness be made an issue? Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, returning from a conference with Col. Roosevelt, advocated on the floor of the Senate an army of 250,000 men. The army reorganization bill of the Democratic party, as finally passed by the two branches of Congress, calls for a regular army of 211,000 men. Is there any room for an issue here?

Secretary Daniels, of the Navy Department, established the Naval Consulting Board, headed by Thomas A. Edison, so that the scientists of the country might be mobilized for national defense. The present Administration likewise has established an industrial mobilization committee, to inventory and aid in the development of all American industries, for strength in time of peace as well as in time of war.

The Administration naval bill, recently introduced in the House, carries an appropriation of $241,000,000. This is an increase of more than $91,000,000 over last year's appropriation. It is the greatest measure for naval preparedness ever advanced by any Administration. In addition to the five new battle cruisers, of the most modern type, there is provision for submarines and all other warships deemed necessary, together with an experimental laboratory, a real aviation corps, and every other modern weapon of defense.

As a result of the work of the Democratic Administration, there will be complete military and naval preparedness, without militarism. There will be the maximum of efficiency, with the minimum of expense.

Industrial defense has been provided by President Wilson's Administration. It will be found in the new Banking and Currency law, in the Administration's tariff commission bill, in the anti-dumping bills and other measures behind which the whole weight of the Administration is being thrown. The Democratic platform will assure industrial defense, rational, reasonable, permanent. The present nationwide prosperity, which seems to give such concern to the Republican party, will be amply safeguarded, both with respect to domestic business and exports, without further agitation, upheaval or uncertainty if President Wilson and the Democratic party are retained in power.

The present measures of industrial and military and naval safety will constitute a permanent policy for the nation, unless new men, seeking a return to power without issues, are given the opportunity to overturn the safe and constructive work that has been done. This is no time for "swapping horses in the middle of the stream." It is no time for the personally ambitious to thrust themselves between constructive achievements and the people. It is no time for domestic upheaval. What has been done in the past three years has withstood the test of world cataclysm. If the present Administration had not eradicated special privilege, and built upon the former foundation of equal opportunity, the United States would not have weathered the storm and reaped the benefits of an unprecedented prosperity.

Americanism will be written large in the Democratic platform. Under that heading will be listed the achievements of Woodrow Wilson for America. Under it will be given the record of what has been done, and what will continue to be done, by the Administration for financial, industrial, military and naval security. If the public is to be promised by the Republican party four years of overturning, uprooting and uncertainty, the public must be shown definite proofs of what benefits will be conferred by such a course at such a time.

PEOPLE LIVE CLOSE TOGETHER

Tenement congestion in Brooklyn is rapidly approaching in density that of Manhattan, which leads the world. Statistics compiled for the Tenement House Committee of the Brooklyn Bureau of Charities show that the average density of tenements erected in Brooklyn in 1915, based on data for each tenement actually completed that year and counting 4.6 persons to a family, was 724 persons an acre. The maximum density was over 1,600 an acre. This refers to land actually used for new tenements, excluding streets. Any tenement house locality would show lower figures than these because no section is built up solidly with new tenement houses.

The greatest density of population in Glasgow is 350 persons an acre; in London, 365; in Paris, 434, and in Prague, 485. These are the densities of the most congested spots in European cities.

A population of approximately 160,000 was housed in the new tenements erected in Brooklyn from 1912 to 1915. Persons accommodated in the 1912 tenements were housed at an average density of 643 persons an acre, in the 1913 tenements 550 an acre, in the 1914 tenements 724 an acre. The average land congestion during the short space of these four years increased 12 1/2 per cent.

Nowhere in the world, except in Manhattan and The Bronx, is land utilized as intensely as in Brooklyn. Tenements are now being erected in practically all parts of Brooklyn.

People living in the eight, nine, ten and twelve-story apartments of Manhattan are not housed any more densely than the people living in the four-story tenements of Brooklyn. In fact one-fourth of the residents of the tall fireproof elevator apartments of Manhattan are not housed any more compactly than the inhabitants of the three-story, six-family tenements in the outskirts of Brooklyn.

In Manhattan the six-story tenement has a higher range of density than the most populated skyscraper apartment on either West End avenue, Riverside Drive or Broadway. It is the most congested house in Manhattan, and yet it is not so congested as the six-story tenement in Brooklyn. In Manhattan only one-third of the apartments in the tenements of this height have a density exceeding 230 families a net acre. In Brooklyn five-sixths of the apartments exceed this density.

This fact is due to the prevalence of elevator apartments in Manhattan. The six-story elevator house in Manhattan has a density varying between 160 and 185 families per net acre, a density no greater than that of the four-story, twenty-family house of East New York. The six-story non-elevator house in Manhattan has as a rule a density equal to, and in some instances exceeding, the density of the same house in Williamsburg, the section containing most of the new six-story tenements in Brooklyn.—[American Contractor.]

BUNCOED WHILE ON WAY TO HEAR BILLY SUNDAY

Indianapolis, Ind., June 10.—George W. Cowles, a farmer and banker at Talmo, Kas., met two confidence men while on his way to attend a Billy Sunday meeting in Kansas City, Mo., later was swindled out of $8,000, and was prevented from losing another $10,000 by the Chicago police, according to the story he told Judge James Deery, of the City Court, at the hearing of the case of Arthur Denham, thirty, who is charged with being a fugitive from justice. As a result of Cowles' testimony, Denham is in jail here today, awaiting extradition to Chicago.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form.

Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body; and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building tonic, free from alcohol or any harmful drugs. Try it. Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J. charged with being a fugitive from justice. As a result of Cowles' testimony, Denham is in jail here today, awaiting extradition to Chicago.

One of the confidence men scraped acquaintances with Cowles and then introduced Denham as C. X. Clark, "the man who never lost a bet on a horse race." They later went to a pool-room, and Cowles won a few small bets. Then Cowles put up a $10,000 check and won, but he was told he would have to produce $8,000 in cash to show that his check was good. Cowles deposited the money and was then informed that Denham's partner had placed another bet, and lost all the money. Cowles said Clark then "beat up his partner shamefully."

Cowles testified he did not lose confidence in Clark and met him later in Chicago, where the same plan was being worked, but that he was stopped by the Chicago police while on his way to put up $10,000 in cash. Cowles said he was indignant when taken in charge by the Chicago police, and insisted on being permitted to put up the money. When the police reached the pool-room the confidence men were gone.

Cowles said he was worth about $100,000.

Saved Girl's Life

"I want to tell you what wonderful benefit I have received from the use of Thedford's Black-Draught," writes Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky.

"It certainly has no equal for a gripe, bad colds, liver and stomach troubles. I firmly believe Black-Draught saved my little girl's life. When she had the measles, they went in on her, but one good dose of Thedford's Black-Draught made them break out, and she has had no more trouble. I shall never be without

MUSIC AMIDST THE CARNAGE

Paris, June 10.—Since the beating of the drums that called France to arms, comparatively little martial music has been heard at the rear. Those who have been allowed in the zone of the armies have occasionally met a regimental band with drums and brass instruments slung over their shoulders, plodding along the road toward the first line; musicians go with the combatants and are subject to all the dangers of the war.

The strains of the Marseillaise one day revealed the presence of a regimental band among the ruins of a town still under bombardment and close enough to the German lines to require measures against gas. All the musicians had their masks on, giving them a grotesque appearance but not interfering with their lung power.

The Coldstream Guards Band, direct from Arras, and the Royal Italian Carlinheers Band, fresh from the Isonzo, brought a little of the atmosphere of the front to the Trocadero recently and reminded Paris of the martial strains that stirred the city during the first days of the war. They were greeted by big crowds with the same enthusiasm as prevailed on the boulevards in the memorable first week of August, 1914. The immense auditorium itself was crowded long before the announced hour for the opening.

The bandsman at the front is not a mere musician; after inspiring the troops with martial strains and when the shot and shell have done their work, he drops his instrument and, with the Red Cross on his sleeve, goes out over the field to pick up the wounded. Sometimes he helps to bury the dead, and in some emergencies he brings up supplies and ammunition.

At the assault of Vauquois in February, 1915, the band of a regiment was ordered to execute the Marseillaise from shelter, but at the moment of the charge the Colonel assigned an uncovered spot to the band, which became a standing target for the enemy, only 300 yards away, but continued none the less bravely its mission: it played the Marseillaise eight times during the engagement; not a man was killed.

A few days later the musicians of a regiment acting as stretcher bearers were ordered to sound the charge for a battalion that was about to go into action. The twenty-six men took their instruments and went to the place where the attack was to be made. The enemy's artillery just then began to enfilade the crossroad where they were sheltered while waiting for the order. The ground was plover by shells and covered with wounded in a few minutes.

The musicians became again at once stretcher bearers, and then the order finally came to sound the charge. Most of the twenty-six instruments had been dented, crushed or torn to bits by the shelling. Two or three trumpets were still intact, and with three or four musicians the trumpeters sounded the charge and alternated the Marseillaise with it for half an hour. Other members of the band became separated and found themselves in another regiment of the brigade, where there were trumpets to spare; they seized them and sounded the charge. Of the twenty-six musicians four were killed and seven wounded. The leader was decorated with the Legion of Honor.

When the regiment is resting behind the front the musicians are the only ones who work; they give concerts for the civilians in the towns where the regiments are quartered, while the combatants are resting.

will be retired on a pension and given passes over practically every railroad on the North American continent, including Canada and Mexico.

The motherly little woman who has looked after women travelers so diligently, has announced that she is "going to see the country." Beginning immediately, she is going to take some of those "wonderful train trips," and see some of that "beautiful scenery" she has heard about all her life. She is going from one end of the country to the other.

Railroad men say they will see that "Mother" Casey will be well taken care of. The little matron in all of her 37 years of service never missed a day at her work because of sickness.

FRANKLIN ON "DEATH."

(From a letter at time of his brother's death.)

Dear Child: I condole with you. We have lost a most dear and valued relation, but it is the will of God and nature that these mortal bodies be laid aside when the soul is to enter into a real life. 'Tis rather an embryo state, a preparation for living; a man is not completely born until he is dead. Why, then, should we grieve that a new child is born among the immortals, a new member added to their happy society?

We are spirits. That bodies should be lent us while they can afford us pleasure, assist us in acquiring knowledge or doing good to our fellow creatures, is a kind and benevolent act of God. When they become unfit for these purposes and afford us pain instead of pleasure, instead of an aid become an incubrance, and answer none of the intentions for which they were given, it is equally kind and benevolent that a way is provided by which we may get rid of them. Death is that way. We ourselves prudently choose a partial death. In some cases a mangled, painful limb, which cannot be restored, we willingly cut off. He who plucks out a tooth parts with it freely, since the pain goes with it; and he that quits the whole body, parts at once with all pains and possibilities of pains and diseases it was liable to, or capable of making him suffer.

Our friend and we are invited abroad on a party of pleasure that is to last forever. His chair was first ready and he has gone before us. We could not all conveniently start together, and why should you and I be grieved at this, since we are sure to follow and we know where to find him? Adieu.

FLOW OF IMMIGRATION IS APPROACHING NORMAL

Washington, June 9.—The flow of immigration to the United States, at one time halted by the European war, shows a greater increase toward normal with each succeeding month. Figures made public here by the Department of Labor show that 27,000 aliens reached American shores in March, 1 per cent greater than in the preceding month and 43 per cent greater than during March of the previous year. In March, 1914, 92,500 aliens were admitted.

Italy, with 3,810 in March, sent more immigrants than any other country; Greece was second with 2,913; England third, with 2,584; Mexico fourth, with 2,299, and the Scandinavian countries fifth, with 2,033.

Immigrants of German nationality numbered 1,070.

TANLAC SECURES HIGHEST RECORD

Quality Tells the Interesting Story of This Extraordinary Medicine.

No other medicine ever has approached the wonderful record of Tanlac. Its success is a romance of the staid business world—a success built on merit so unusual that in just nine months after Tanlac had been introduced, one million bottles had been sold to men and women who had learned its superior qualities for the relief of ailments of the stomach, liver and kidneys and catarrhal affections.

Tanlac appeals to the best people everywhere. These are the men and women who judge intelligently and impartially, and the result always is a Tanlac verdict. Upon the endorsement of many thousands of well known people rests the great and secure popularity of Tanlac.

Those who take Tanlac always return for the second bottle because the first few doses establish its merits. Tanlac is so efficient and pure, it at once makes known its value in derangements of the stomach, indigestion, upset nerves and debility.

Tanlac, that has come to be generally known as the Master Medicine, may now be obtained in Hartford at the Ohio County Drug Co., where it is explained daily to many people.

Tanlac may be obtained in the following nearby towns: Heaver Dam, Z. Wilbur Mitchell; Centertown, L. C. Morton & Son; Mellen, Williams Coal Co.; Ceralvo, C. R. Fulkerson; Cromwell, Wallace & Porter; Danock, Cook & Co.; Rockport, Harrell Bros.; Nelson, Nelson Creek Coal Co.; Livermore, J. F. Smith; Island, A. R. Pollock; Dundee, C. C. King; Fordville, J. D. MINORITY PRESIDENTS HAVE BEEN FREQUENT

When Joseph H. Choate sneers at Woodrow Wilson as a minority President he should remember that Abraham Lincoln was also a minority President—very much so, indeed—and that many occupants of the White House have failed to command absolute majorities of the electors. Had Colonel Roosevelt or Prof. Taft been elected President in 1912 it could only have been as a minority President. Under the American system of choosing Presidents it may even happen that one is elected who has less votes than his principal competitor. This happened in 1876 and in 1888, when Rutherford B. Hayes and Benjamin Harrison, both Republicans, were returned as elected, though they failed to receive as many votes as Samuel J. Tilden and Grover Cleveland, Democrats.

Other minority Presidents have been James K. Polk, Zachary Taylor, James Buchanan, James A. Garfield and Grover Cleveland. It is also extremely probable, in view of the present political mix-up, that the President to be selected next November will receive only a plurality of the votes, not a majority, and will thus be a minority choice. None the less he will be entitled to the support of the whole American people, just as all Presidents are.—[Philadelphia Record.]

FORTUNES FOR SEEDS TO RAISE KANSAS CROP

Kansas spends about $14,000,000 annually for the seed necessary to plant the acreages devoted to the State's principal crops, according to an estimate made public by J. C. Mohler, Secretary of the State Board of Agriculture. He points out that the estimate is based on last year's acreage and prices.

"Two-thirds of the $14,000,000 is for wheat seed," the report says. "Kansas seeds each year more wheat than many States harvest. The value of the sorghum planted for forage comes next, amounting to $1,205,814, while the oats sown in third, and amounts to $1,146,907."

"It seems rather surprising that it only costs $602,800 for the seed to plant the State's corn acreage and taking the run of the year corn is Kansas's most valuable product. More than $500,000 is spent each year for Irish potato seed. Assuming that the average life of a stand of alfalfa in Kansas is ten years, and that one-tenth, therefore, is sown each year, there would be required seed worth approximately $380,000. Barley, which is grown mostly in Western Kansas, requires an annual outlay of more than $200,000 for seed, and the clover seed sown each year is probably worth $15,000. The rye sown annually is rated at $86,000. It only cost about $65,000 for the seed to plant nearly 1,000,000 acres of alfalfa."—[Topeka Cor. New York Sun.]

AND HE DRINKS.

It is so well known that the use of liquor is indefensible that the business world is throwing its influence against even the moderate use of alcoholic drinks. The man who drinks is the last one to find a job when employees are being dismissed. This economic pressure is being brought to bear against alcoholic liquors throughout the industrial world. If any of you think that drinking is a business advantage to any man anywhere, let me suggest a test which you can apply. Go to the best friend you have and ask him for a recommendation; tell him to make it as strong as possible. After he has said all the good he can of you, let him write at the end of the recommendation three words—write them in red ink, so that they will be sure to be seen—"And he drinks." Then take the recommendation to any man who has money enough to employ another and watch his face when he reads the recommendation—and then wait for a job. No brewer, distiller or saloon keeper ever added those words to a recommendation given to a friend—find such a recommendation if you can. If the men who make liquor and sell it know its effect well enough never to put it in a recommendation that the man recommended drinks, why should anybody else think it an advantage in business? If you think that a saloon helps a town, answer this question: Did you ever know a "wet" town to put the number of saloons on any sign board or in any advertising literature? The number of banks, business houses, factories, churches, schools—all these are mentioned as attractions, but not the number of saloons or the amount spent in them. Why?—[W. J. Bryna.]

Why Not Face the Facts About Armor Competition?

To the People:

The policy of the United States Government for many years has made real competition in armor-making ineffective.

The Government might have asked the three armor plants for bids and let the entire tonnage to the lowest bidder. That would have made competition effective.

The result of such a course would have been to drive two of the three manufacturers out of business, and leave the country with facilities of only one plant in time of need.

The Government in fact has always asked for bids from the three manufacturers, but no matter what the price quoted, each year's business was divided among them.

Armor makers serve but one customer—the Government, just as a public utility serves but one customer—a community.

The solution of the public utility problem is regulation of rates.

The solution of the armor problem is for the Government to fix the price.

We voluntarily agree to accept any price fixed by the Federal Trade Commission. Isn't acceptance of that offer better than the destruction of an industry built solely to serve the Government?
